HARDING WILL TAKE NO FURTHER ACTION TO INFLUENCE TREATY

Expects Senate to Ratify Pact Without Further Quibble.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Feb. 27.—Committee consideration of the arms conference treaty was completed today when the senate foreign relations committee reported favorably without reservations, the general far eastern and Chinese tariff treaties. In both cases the action was unanimous.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Feb. 27.—White House callers who have talked with President Harding on the four-power treaty proposition learned today that Mr. Harding, having consented to the pending reservation to the pact, intends to take no further hand in the matter of ratification.

The President was reported by callers to believe that while no reservations to the four power treaty are necessary, the one reported favorably by the senate foreign relations committee is agreeable to him in the interest of speedy ratification and for the sake of party harmony.

Some senate Republican leaders while indicating the treaty situation in the senate itself as still somewhat nebulous believe that the four power pact will be ratified with not more than six Republicans voting against it. The leaders said today that at least fourteen Democrats are counted on to vote for the treaty, with the possibility that there will be more when the final roll is called.

Senator Watson, Republican, of Indiana, called at the White House today and talked over the treaty situation with the President, but declined to say anything about the details of the conference.

Sacred Concert at St. Paul's Sunday Was Great Affair

Rice, a Dixon favorite, who is leaving soon to take up social and musical work in the Christian church in Omaha, Neb., also gave great pleasure in his selections last evening. The duet by Mesdames Dogweiler and Rosbrook, and the quartet number by Mrs. Hursh, Miss Reuf and Messrs. Hursh and Shrock, the trombone and cornet duet by Messrs. Senneff and Stearns, the violin solo by Mrs. Powers, and the selections by the choir were all enjoyable and excellently given. Miss Coppins, organist, deserves a great share of credit.

A FEW LOADS OF BUCKSHOT OUGHT TO DISCOURAGE IT SOME

YANK RELIEF WORKER SHOT BY RUSSIANS

Misunderstanding of Americans' Action May Be Cause.

Moscow, Feb. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—J. B. Murray of Wauburn, Mass., connected with the American relief administration, suffered a slight flesh wound when fired upon in the street early yesterday. He was accompanied by a Mr. Callahan of Fall River, Mass.

Whether the shot was fired by a highwayman or by street patrols who misinterpreted the actions of the American has not been determined. Murray and Callahan were homebound from a concert when they saw a sleigh, the occupants with their hands in the air.

Thinking it was a holdup and they would be the next victims, the Americans jumped from their sleigh and ran. Several shots were fired at them, one hitting Murray who, however, was able to continue running and reached a nearby house, where a crowd quickly gathered.

Neither one understands Russian, but they succeeded in making the patrols, who quickly arrived, understand that they were Americans and they were assisted home.

American relief administration employees familiar with Moscow are inclined to the theory that street patrols had halted the sleigh ahead of the Americans and fired at the Americans to stop them for investigation.

Two Girls, Three Men Suspected of Robbery

One of the girls, who gave her name as Vera Drago of Sycamore, Illinois, had a pistol in her possession, police said, and they believe that either she or the other girl, who said she was Edythe Gillmore of Minneapolis, may be the woman bandit who has been the leader in several holdups and robberies here. The men gave their names as John J. Glenn of Philadelphia and Benjamin Seymour and George Merwin of Chicago.

GOVERNOR REFUSES TO ACCEPT RESIGNATION OF OKLAHOMA JURIST

Support Stand Taken By Judge in Discharging Grand Jury.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Omulgee, Okla., Feb. 27.—Interest in the situation growing out of the recent dismissal of a grand jury investigating the affairs of the defunct Bank of Commerce here, by Superior Court Judge H. R. Christopher, took a sudden turn today with the making public of a letter from Governor J. B. A. Robertson, sent yesterday to the judge, declining to accept the latter's resignation. No word had been received from the judge who believed to be in Chicago. Judge Christopher offered his resignation after being requested to do so by citizens at a mass meeting soon after the dismissal of the jury.

In his letter Governor Robertson upheld the judge in dismissing the grand jury, saying that to have let it render report would have made more difficult a quick settlement of the bank's affairs. Judge Christopher said, when he discharged the grand jury that he did so because it had been "hand picked" and not chosen according to law. The governor also said, in his letter, that "should the courts approve such a procedure in the empanelling of a grand jury, it would be an open door to persecution."

The governor, however, criticized Judge Christopher for his offering to recall the discharged grand jury and let it make its report. "Justice must not be thwarted at the demands of any people or to the threats of any mob," Governor Robertson said. In a statement, the governor said he was willing to appear before a grand jury and testify, "waiving all privileges and immunity."

Another grand jury was scheduled to be empanelled today in Judge Robertson's court to take up the matters investigated by the dismissed grand jury.

FEAR OF HUNGER IS TAMING SPIRITS OF RUSS SOVIET CHIEFS

Willing to Concede Anything to Obtain a Foreign Loan.

Moscow, Feb. 27.—(By the Associated Press)—The Soviet delegation to Genoa will carry instructions to grant all concessions demanded, provided a big reconstruction loan can be arranged. If this loan can not be arranged, then from the Russian point of view, the conference has only the moral value of recognition of the present government.

The basic reason for this attitude is the famine. It is only within the last few weeks that the leaders of the Soviet have realized just how desperate is the food situation. So long as the famine starves to death the peasants and the remaining bourgeois, though it be on a scale of millions, the Soviet leaders are untouched and rather indifferent.

But the famine is now slowly but surely encroaching on and encircling their stronghold—Moscow—and Soviet representatives, sent to every part of Russia for food, report there is less and less to be had, that beginning with March the favored Red army will begin to starve, and that each succeeding month will be worse until July, when harvests, more or less scant, will relieve the situation.

Reds Fears Anarchy.
What may happen between now and the summer months is troubling the Soviet leaders. If a big loan is arranged the situation can be saved. If not the hundred million or so dollars in the Soviet treasury will have to go for food, and even that may not save the country from anarchy.

The frightened attitude of the Soviet is shown by its daily changing attitude towards the American relief administration. When the Americans first came in September, they were received with scant courtesy; but with each month they have better treated, until now they are not permitted, but asked, to direct food shipments. If the Moscow leaders do not obtain outside help they realize that their power is doomed. Already the Ukraine has shown its independence and has flatly refused to let any of its food be drained off to Moscow or for the Red army stationed elsewhere.

Hostility Is Evident.
The Caucasus has some food, but its attitude is doubtful. In the Kuban, where there is also food, hostility to outside shipments has been active since last summer.

The Soviet government's fears are indicated in another direction. For the time its entire external policy has been thrown overboard. The recent conference of far eastern people, called by the Third Internationale for the purpose of stimulating communism in Japan, China and elsewhere, was given but the scantiest attention in Moscow. The delegates were poorly housed and turned over to foreign office clerks.

On Tuesday, Feb. 21, at Seattle, Wash., funeral services over the remains of Miss E. Clementine Walgreen, who passed recently away at Juneau, Alaska, were held, conducted by Rev. Major of the Presbyterian church. Following the services, in compliance with Miss Walgreen's expressed wish, her body was cremated and the ashes were brought to Dixon for interment, which took place at 10:30 o'clock this morning beside the body of her father in Oakwood cemetery, Rev. A. S. Moore, pastor of the Methodist church officiating.

Ashes of Miss E. Clementine Walgreen Laid to Rest Today

Miss Walgreen was active in O. E. S. circles in Juneau, of which Chapter she was a Past Worthy Matron, and the kindness and sympathy of the members of that order were of incalculable help to the sisters who went to Juneau to take charge of her remains. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Ellen Walgreen of this city; two brothers, E. O. Walgreen of Yankton, S. D., and C. R. Walgreen of Chicago; and two sisters, Mrs. J. O. Tiffin, of Dallas, Tex., and Mrs. F. X. Newcomer of Dixon.

JEALOUSY CAUSE OF DOUBLE SHOOTING IN MIAMI, FLA., SUNDAY

Nervous Breakdown Made Chicago Auto Man Suspect Wife.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Miami, Fla., Feb. 27.—The lives of E. C. Frady, president of the Cole Motor Company of Chicago, and his wife, are hanging by a thread today, according to surgeons at the hospital where both were taken yesterday following Frady's attempt to kill his wife and then to end his own life.

Mrs. Frady was shot three times by her husband, who slashed his throat with a safety razor blade and a pen knife. No charges have been placed against Frady, but a deputy sheriff is stationed in the hospital and he is technically in custody, pending the outcome of the wounds received by both.

The Fradys were stopping at the leading tourist hotel on the beach. Mrs. Frady arrived about six weeks ago and he a month later. Other guests at the hotel say that Frady seemed to be unusually jealous, having been heard to scold his wife for accepting introductions to men.

Frady is said to have suffered a nervous breakdown several weeks ago and to have come to Miami to recuperate. Mrs. Frady, a sister of John R. Thompson, wealthy Chicago restaurant owner, also came here for her health.

NO REASON KNOWN

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Danville, Ill., Feb. 27.—Mrs. E. C. Frady was born and reared on a farm in Vermilion county, the youngest of the nine children of the late John R. Thompson, and was married 23 years ago to a Boston man. Several years after her marriage, her husband died. Mrs. Frady lost her husband and two daughters in the Iroquois Theatre fire, and Miss Thompson also attended the theatre on the day of the fire. Mr. Frady and Miss Thompson met soon after the disaster.

Relatives here said today they knew of no reason for the tragedy as both seemed to be very happy.

ART EXHIBITION AT DIXON LIBRARY HAS PLEASED ALL GUESTS

Visitors Find Unusual Display of Modern Art in Exhibit.

Many people are visiting the Dixon Public Library viewing with considerable pleasure and delight the pictures painted by Chicago artists, now on exhibition there. All comment is most favorable to the artists.

As a rule, art is not well understood, by many, but art is a serious business; very much more serious than most people think. The arts, including literature of course, are the flowers of civilization. It is their beauty that uplifts people and makes them realize what is great in life. The artist lives in the day. He will be happy no matter what happens because he knows that happiness brings his soul nearer perfection. He will do nothing to rob others of their happiness. The true artist is a very moral being according to nature's laws of morality, but he is a breaker of conventions. He realizes that humanity has been struggling upward for centuries out of barbarism and he often recognizes in the conventional relics of our former barbaric customs. The more barbaric a country is the more strict are its conventions. In China they still torture their criminals to death on the double cross or in the strong box and their art must be strictly conventional. The same barbarous public opinion that causes the one causes the other. The evil that manacles art is even more pernicious than the one that tortures the individual for it prevents the progress of humanity.

Three Kinds of Art
Those who exploit art and the artist are even worse than politician who steals the public moneys. Art is of three kinds, good, bad and indifferent and strange to say many people can't tell the difference.

Good Art is that which expresses love and great character; bad art as that expressing hatred and immorality, and indifferent art as that great mass of everyday art which lies between the two extremes.

An indifferent work of art might serve useful purpose of decorating a wall till one has progressed to a point where he appreciates something better. It's effect on people will be somewhat neutral. Many will like it at first and then outgrow it. The more we study pictures the more accurate becomes our power of estimating their value. Good pictures grip and hold you like a good poem or symphony and the oftener you see them the stronger becomes your love for them. Pictures, poems and songs are the stepping stones to character. He who recognizes great character to be the legitimate good of life will never underestimate the arts. Great works of art, like great men, are rare.

Pictures are Modern
The pictures on exhibition in Dixon are of the modern school. That is they do not conform to old academic rules, yet they do not overstep the fundamental rules of art as interpreted by the recognized great artists of today. They are lighter in key and brighter in color than were paintings 50 or 100 years ago.

This makes them more decorative. Impressionism rides the wave of popularity because it leaves much to the imagination and therefore fascinates. The "Shepherd and His Flock" was painted in France.

The shepherd is guarding his little flock and starting them on the way home. It is twilight in early spring when the nights are still frosty and the new born lamb, the first of the season, needs protection from the cold. The old peasant bent with toil and battered by long years of struggle with the elements stands holding the lamb in his arms and is lost in deep rapture of life. The tender new born lamb with its touching beauty reminds him of his own childhood and then he reflects upon his life with joy, its love, its anxiety and its sorrow.

The story is told in the soft harmonies of a twilight beautiful yet not forced. The dog enters into the picture, but is secondary. It serves as a third point of interest to strengthen the composition. Mr. Kennedy paints his evening sketches out of doors by using rolls eyes lantern.

Painted in Rome

"Cypress Grove" was painted in Rome in the wild part of old villa Borghese, the magnificent estate surrounding the Princes Palace which is now a public museum. While Mr. Kennedy was working the preliminary sketches for this picture and revealing in the ancient splendor of the old cypress trees a wild eyed, hungrily-looking little peasant girl gazed among the trees and sat down a safe treasured possession and the flowers appeal to her love for bright colors. Her life has been a struggle which has marked her face with sadness, but now that the kind artist lady has come to give her money for just sitting still and doing nothing she is contented and for her, even happy. Mrs. Kennedy is very fond of portraying characters from lowly life and her ability at character reading enables her to express their moods excellently. She has several wonderful pictures of French and Dutch peasants which were made while abroad.

Known in Grandy

Mrs. Kennedy is a cousin of Mrs. Sheffield of Grand Detour and has often sketched in that neighborhood. She is very fond of the scenery along the river preferring it to all other sketching grounds in this section of the country.

"Autumn" by Anna D. Kennedy was painted in 1915 in Lincoln Park. It is delicate and harmonious and has the autumn feeling. The atmospheric envelopment is very natural and artistic.

Mrs. Kennedy has an unusual amount of natural refinement, which is always expressed in her work.

MORRISSEY-OROURKE—

John O'Rourke, a popular engineer on the I. C. railroad, and Miss Elizabeth Morrissey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Morrissey of Amboy, were married at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, Feb. 22, in St. Patrick's church, Rev. T. J. Cullen officiating at the ceremony.

The couple were attended by Miss Laurette Morrissey, a sister of the bride, and George Scott of Clinton, Ill., nephew of the groom. The bride and her bridesmaid were becomingly gowned in traveling suits of navy blue tulle, with hats in the new marine shade and both wore corsage bouquets, the bride's being of freesias and tea roses, and her sister's of freesias and sweet peas.

A wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party at the Morrissey home, and a reception was held during the day which was attended by about fifty relatives. The guests partook of a sumptuous dinner, prepared by Mrs. Margaret Byrne of Harmon, assisted by the bride's sisters and sister-in-law, Mrs. Peter McCoy, Mrs. D. T. Fitzpatrick, and Mrs. Lawrence Morrissey, and served by Miss Ethel Flanagan of Dixon and Miss Edna Dempsey of Walton.

Guests from out-of-town were Mrs. Margaret Flanagan and daughters, Ethel and Gladys and Mrs. E. J. Burke of Dixon, Mrs. C. Jacobs of Rockford, and George and John Scott, of Clinton, Ill. The other guests were relatives living in the vicinity of Amboy and Walton.

The house was decorated in pink and white, with festoons from the corner of the dining room to the center of the ceiling where a white wedding bell was hung. Pink and white carnations were the flowers.

The groom is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick O'Rourke and has lived in Amboy all his life. Mrs. O'Rourke moved with her parents to Amboy from Marion township a few years ago. She has been employed in Berry's department store for three years past. Both are well known and well liked.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Rourke left for a trip to St. Louis. On their return they will take up their residence in Mrs. Ellen Burns' house on Jones street.

NEW FRENCH SILKS FEATURE PLAIDS AND STRIPS

Changeable taffetas, warp printed taffetas, Scotch plaided taffetas and striped taffetas stand out as the dominant notes of the new line of silks from a famous French manufacturer. These taffetas have been very heavily sampled by all the leading Paris dress-makers. Noteworthy in this group are the Scotch plaided taffetas and the striped taffetas. These are shown in very supple qualities and in soft, neutral tones.

A supple taffeta in neutral color flowered in white is said to be in big demand, also flowered warp printed taffetas on indistinct, striped grounds and on changeable grounds.

MRS. EICHLER OF DIXON GAVE READINGS

At the last meeting of the Amboy Woman's club with Mrs. W. B. Hussey, Mrs. Adolph Eichler, of Dixon, gave several delightful readings. Miss Dora Miller sang two enjoyable vocal selections and Miss Rachel Dyar gave two humorous readings.

BANQUET GREATLY ENJOYED FRIDAY

The orchestra from Franklin Grove, Sterling and Dixon, taught by Prof. W. H. Smith and members of their families and officers of the M. E. Sunday school, of this city, gathered at the Methodist church Friday evening and enjoyed their annual banquet. In all there were about one hundred and fifty guests and it proved an evening of much pleasure.

The tables presented a most inviting appearance with decorations in red and white, red candles in crystal sticks and baskets of flowers. A delicious banquet was served, and afterwards a number of jolly toasts given, all responding with words of praise and appreciation to their teacher, Prof. Smith. C. W. Hintz, Supt. of the M. E. Sunday school, was the toastmaster, and filled his position with ease and grace.

The hour following the banquet was one of jollity and interesting reminiscences, everyone enjoying it to the utmost, the entire evening proving one of much pleasure and to be remembered with happy thoughts long afterward. Professor Smith has a Junior and Senior M. E. Sunday school orchestra here and also his Symphony orchestra and teaches the Sterling and Franklin Grove orchestras. He is leader of the Dixon Municipal band.

In connection with the banquet of Friday evening it may be stated here that Supt. C. W. Hintz of the M. E. church Sunday school announced Sunday morning that the church and Sunday school would start an innovation that day and that each Sunday the flowers which decorated the church should be given to the sick, shut-ins or those in sorrow, or to some one designated especially by those in charge.

Yesterday specially beautiful flowers had been provided with the purpose afterward disclosed. Supt. Hintz announced that it was the birthday anniversary of Prof. Smith and that he was sure all wished him many happy returns of the day, and the beautiful large bouquet of cut flowers and two lovely blooming plants were presented Prof. Smith, who, the most modest and retiring of men, was quite nonplussed. The esteem and popularity in which Mr. Smith is held was evidenced by all rising and clapping their hands with approbation when Supt. Hintz said he thought all would wish Prof. Smith many happy returns—as all his friends do most heartily.

THURSDAY READING CIRCLE BANQUET

The members of the Thursday Reading Circle held their annual banquet on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Herbert Scott on Boyd street.

The banquet which was well attended, celebrated the 28th anniversary of the Circle. Thirty-five were seated and enjoyed very much the appetizing repast.

Most attractive decorations were in the national colors and cut flowers added their beauty to the occasion.

After the banquet Mrs. Robert Anderson, the president of the Circle, addressed the company and spoke briefly but expressively of the work and aims of the Circle and what it meant to the members, and of their pleasure in the program and work.

It is one of the oldest clubs in Dixon and one of the most representative and the members in their quiet way, beside having enjoyable literary and musical programs, accomplish much good.

After Mrs. Anderson's interesting address, an enjoyable musical program was given with Miss Ora Floto, Mrs. C. E. Bishop, Miss Helen Corbin and Robert Anderson contributing of their talent, the numbers all being beautifully given and receiving hearty applause.

HER TIP! NEVER EARN MORE THAN YOUR HUSBAND

HELEN LEE WORTHING

By NEA Service.

Boston.—And now comes Helen Lee Worthing of Boston, holder of a prize for being the most beautiful girl in the United States, and once famous as a "Follies" girl, with a new philosophy on love.

She has just divorced her husband, Charles McDonald, Chicago advertising man.

She advises young married women thus:

"Never earn more money than your husband. Man is economically jealous of woman. He will forgive anything but his wife earning more coin than he does."

"He has always been the hunter, the bread-winner, the protector—and he doesn't want to be deprived of his natural economic niche."

Saute 12 button mushrooms in butter.

Make a sauce as follows:

Four tablespoons butter, 2 table-spoons flour, 2 cups milk, 2 eggs (yolks), 1/2 teaspoon salt, paprika.

Melt butter, stir in flour and when perfectly blended slowly add milk. Beat yolks of eggs slightly and add a little of the sauce. Then add egg mixture to sauce slowly, stirring constantly.

To this sauce add the sweetbreads cut in neat cubes, the boiled chestnuts and sauteed mushrooms.

Heat over hot water and serve on rounds of bread. To make the rounds of bread cut rounds from the soft part of the loaf about two inches thick. Drop in deep hot fat and fry to a golden brown. Drain on heavy brown paper.

Braised Sweetbreads

One pair calf's sweetbreads, 1 1/2 cups water, 1 small onion, 1 small carrot, 1/2 small turnip, 1 strip celery, 6 peppercorns, 2 sprigs parsley, 1 cup tomato sauce, 4 small squares fried bread.

Blanch sweetbreads. Slice vegetables and put in stew pan with water and seasoning. Put the sweetbreads on top the vegetables, cover with buttered paper, cover with a closely fitting lid and simmer for 45 minutes.

Prepare the bread as in the preceding recipe. Put the sweetbreads on the fried bread, pour over the tomato sauce and serve at once.

Sweetbreads and peas are often combined in a white sauce and the whole served in patty shells.

If serving sweetbreads to a connoisseur the simpler the way they are prepared the better. Broiled sweetbreads or sweetbreads in a plain cream sauce are preferable to more elaborate concoctions.

They say that Chief Van Bibber and Officer Jones visited the avenue Sunday afternoon. Now, what do you suppose the matter was? As a rule we people up here are not in need of policemen.

James Reynolds is ill. Twenty-five cars of loaded freight arrived over Sunday at the Central. This is not so bad for Dixon. Quite a few cars of coal.

Switch engine No. 774 has gone from the Central yards to the shops. Engine 683 is now working in the yards. Once in awhile these old goats need fixing.

Hugh Curran is still confined to his Sterling home on account of illness. James Devine is taking Hugh's place as freight hustler. James has two strong arms.

Mrs. Rose Reilly is ill with a severe cold. Mrs. J. J. Reilly of Freeport, still improves.

DIXON-FREEPORT ROAD

This section of the state is making an urgent appeal to the State Highway Commission and to Governor Len Small to build the state bond issue pavement known as Route 2, from LaSalle to Dixon and Route 26 from Dixon to LaSalle, which would give northern Illinois about 80 miles of a north and south highway, running through a very rich farming and industrial section and furnishing a greatly needed avenue of communication and transportation between important communities which are now without passable roads. This road would form a lateral between several east and west transcontinental routes.

There has been a feeling that southern Illinois, that land of politicians and politics, has been getting more than its share of bond money and that this part of the state has been neglected. It is true, of course, that southern Illinois, some of which is very poor and without decent roads, needed this help more than any other part of the state. But that is hardly reason for neglecting the part of state that pays the bulk of the cost of the roads. The state has some splendid east and west highways in the north half but to make these highways available to the residents it is very necessary that some main arteries be laid north and south.

There is every good argument in favor of the construction of the road from LaSalle to Freeport this year and The Telegraph believes that the state administration will readily see this need and give favorable answer to the petition from Northern Illinois.

THE IRON MAN

Crime waves are caused by the automatic machine. This theory is advanced by Rev. Joel B. Hayden, Presbyterian minister, of Cleveland.
The automatic machine, says Dr.
Hayden, keeps its operator's mind relatively unemployed.

Thinking, no matter what it is about is the gymnasium exercise that trains the brain. The old-time workman had his personal skill and ingenuity constantly called into play. The automatic machine does its own thinking.

But no human brain ever is idle.
Constantly it is thinking. It is like a pool of water, with the winds of emotions alternately whipping it into bil-lows or playing on it with peaceful ripples.

The automatic machine may not keep its operator's mind on his work.
But it has released the operator's attention, during working hours, for thought on outside problems.

The real problem is to divert that attention to the proper subjects.
The curse of the automatic machine is in monotony. Put a coin in your hand. Try to turn it over and over for eight hours. You'll probably wind up with a desire to scream or jump out of the window.

What, then, is the effect on a factory girl who sews endless buttons on shirts, using a machine, year after year?

Monotony wrecks the nerves, par-alyzes the will power, chloroforms initiative and ingenuity. The reaction is apt to be a frenzy of the emotions. That, twin brother of radicism and crime, is the real danger.
A lion in the jungle is peaceful. Unless starving, he will slink out of your way. Cage him, with nothing to do but pace his small prison and he'll spring at your throat if you enter the cage.

Man is being devoured by his machines, says R. Austin Freeman in his recent book, "Social Decay and Regeneration." In a nutshell, his idea is that machinery, intended to become man's slave, is gaining the whip-hand as man's master.
Result: We are getting further and further from the great forces of nature, contact with which kept our ancestors normal. As man loses contact with natural laws, he inclines to drift into unnatural ways of living.

The remedy? Have a hobby, something to relax your fagged, jaded brain after working hours. And, in spare time, keep out of doors in the country, as much as possible.

JUDGE LANDIS
The retirement of Kenesaw Mountain Landis from the Federal bench is a distinct loss to the nation's courts and to the preservation of law and justice. The Telegraph joins the multitude that regrets Judge Landis' decision to resign.

We believe that Landis' action must be due, in a large part at least, to the attacks upon him in congress and elsewhere, under the guise of a criticism of his holding two positions.
We further believe that those attacks were inspired by forces more sinister than appears on the surface and certain interests who feel safer with Landis off the bench sought his removal.
Judge Landis is intensely American and a fearless defender of the land.
His great influence for good must not be lost to this country. The people should put him in high public office.

SKIRTS

The girls on Broadway are wearing their skirts as short as ever.
On Fifth avenue, New York an ankle length skirt is occasional. Most of the paraders are wearing them 16 inches off the ground, though the few ones are coming in eight inches longer than that, reflecting present fashion in Paris.
This will interest many women who are hearing that "they're wearing 'em longer in the east." We don't always hear correctly in this world.

DECAY

Russian art continues to be the rage among many American intellectuals. Hypnotized by Russian novels, plays, dancing and grotesque paintings, they see in these the survivals of a coming civilization.
More probably, it is the sunset. Art is the blossom that comes when civilization is about to go to seed.
But the agonies through which Russia has been going may give her a rebirth of strength. That would mean less art, more of the concrete things of life. Thus her future is hopeful, if you look at it through normal eyes.

HOAX

More gray hairs: Weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth: Exports from United States fell off $48,997,418 during November compared with the month before.
That looks like bad news. It is.
But later, when the figures are all in,
it will be found that he falling off was largely in prices—that the number of bushels, tons, bales and pounds are going out about as usual.
The "big foreign trade we built up during the war" was mostly a price hoax. That is the Great American Delusion—thinking in terms of prices instead of actual quantities.

The Alps mountains have taken a heavy toll of lives this year. About 140 climbers perished. Most of the fatalities were due to dispensing with guides to save expenses.
Economy sometimes is really extravagance, for extremes meet. As in most of the big things of life, the great problem is to know where to draw the dividing line.
"The more haste, the less speed."

BOOTLEGGERS

A band of bootleggers, operating near the Brooklyn navy yard, sells such powerful hooch that the Naval Y. M. C. A. on Sands street takes in, during one week, "11 unconscious sailors, suffering from alcoholic poisoning. One died. Another was so violent that he had to be confined in a straight jacket."

CONTRAST

A traveling salesman says the most noticeable thing in New York these days is the army of man, selling toys and novelties on the sidewalks, who look as if they recently were very prosperous.
He also observed that nearly every woman in New York has an expensive new fur coat.
A contrast, decidedly. But it does not necessarily mean anything.
The sidewalk vendors are real New Yorkers.
The fur-coated women, in most part, probably are out-of-town visitors. Those who travel and visit these days are not worried about money.
Railroad fares take care of that.

AMAZING

The Hudson River will be bridged at Manhattan Island. Engineers used

BRINGING UP FATHER

to say it was impossible. The impossibility of today is the accomplishment of tomorrow.

If Hendrick Hudson could come back to life and see New York's brick canyons, he would refuse to believe it was the same place. He would decide he had awakened in another world, and, after trying to get used to speedy 1922 ways of living, would want to go back to the grave.
If you would come back to Dixon 500 years hence, it wouldn't take much to convince you that you had awakened on Mars.

TIPS

How much do you pay for your hats? A Dixon traveling salesman says his hats cost him about $10 apiece.

He pays $4 for a new hat. Twice a day he has to check it when he eats in a hotel or restaurant. Tips average 10 cents each, to the hat-checkers. The life of the hat is about six months. When he is through with a hat, it represents $4 original cost and $36 tips.

The Evening Telegraph stands with the travelers and others who are conducting an organized campaign against that idiotic evil, the tipping system.

JAPANESE PRICES

You often hear this, and maybe believe it yourself: "In Japan, a man can live like a prince on a few cents a day."

Get out your memory eraser.
D. Tagawa, editor of the Oriental Economist in Tokio, furnishes this list of Japanese prices, translated into our money: chicken and beefsteak $1 a pound, milk 38 cents a quart, sugar 16 cents a pound, bread 10 cents a pound.

High cost of land is the chief reason for high prices in Japan, says Editor Tagawa. "There is no farm land in Japan that costs less than $500 an acre. In the vicinity of Tokyo and Osaka it runs from $1500 an acre up."

In competing against us for Chinese trade, Japan's only real advantage appears to be geographical nearness to the market.

Women, Arrange Your Diet According to Daily Work

Common Sense Wars to Keep Well

Men as a class are larger and heavier than women; they also tend to have a higher muscular development and to carry on more severe muscular work.
Therefore the common notion that men eat more than women is true.
When men and women of the same height and weight are compared lying at rest, they require the same number of calories. Women usually have more body fat in proportion to their weight, which reduces the amount of active working muscles.
If a man and a woman do the same kind and amount of work the task will be as great for the woman as the man.
The daily requirements for the average woman in some of her common occupations are as follows:
At rest, 1600 to 1800 calories a day.
Sedentary occupations, 2000 to 2500

JAPANESE

Japan has 57,000,000 population but only 3,000,000 of them are allowed to vote. Cannot vote over there unless you pay land or business income tax equivalent to $1.50. With only 3 in 57 paying income tax and voting,
Japan has a big poverty problem.

These facts are from a speech by Dr. G. E. Uyehara, teaching political science in Meiji University, Tokyo.
For discussing universal suffrage in his classes, he was dismissed. Got his job back when students struck in protest.

Free speech and suffrage cannot be permanently shackled, even in imperialistic Japan. Opposing them is like fighting the law of gravity.

RATS

Rats making tremendous headway, warns a fire prevention association.
It says old rats are destroying $750,- 000,000 worth of property a year.
That's $7 for every American against $1.80 a few years ago.

Rats increase your cost of living.
They carry disease, imperiling your health. They start many fires. Only good rat is a dead one. Kill every rat you see, no matter how long it takes. One rat is a potential parent of many. Old saying, "Freed like rats," tells the story in a nutshell.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Be not wise in thine own eyes; fear the Lord and depart from evil.—Proverbs 3:7.

History and experience are not without examples of a hard self-ob-literation in most things, which is as cruel to others as it is to itself. Rigid fall utterly in the cultivation of the spirit and temper which alone is valuable.

Today's word is PURLIEU.
It's pronounced—purr-loo with accent on the first syllable.
It means—outsights, environs, margin, edge.
It comes from—French "purlée," a survey of boundaries.
It's used like this—"Many four-flushers and upstarts move in the purlieus of high society," that is, about the edges of society.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem Consequences

Outside it's been snowing
For more than a week,
The winter wind's blowing
With blood-chilling shriek;
Inside, we've no fuel,
No meat and no bread—
My gosh, life is cruel!
And all hope is fled.

My sweetheart has died of A cyanide pill;
She lies by the side of My half-brother Bill
Who's stabbed in three places,
Including the neck!
How calm are their faces
Amid all the wreck.

So, listless and flaccid,
I sit here and think:
With cannibals acid
All ready to drink,
I've murdered, unheeding,
My uncles and aunts,
For I have been reading
A Russian romance!

Buskins thought he could get along now alone, he said, as the Land-of-shape, so he'd be perfectly willing to spare his little friends if they were needed somewhere else.

"Yes, the Fairy Queen needs 'em," replied the Mushroom. "She needs
'em very much. There is war be-

DIXON ELIMINATED IN FIRST CONTEST OF SATURDAY'S MEET

Freeport Won Northern Section Title at Aurora
Tourney.

Dixon 26; Aurora 48.

Aurora 30; Evanston 20.
Freeport 38; Aurora 21.

BY MURPHY.

Freeport Y. M. C. A. won the Northern Section Y. M. C. A. championship Saturday evening at the Aurora Y. M. C. A. defeating Aurora in the final 38-21.

The Dixon team was defeated in the first contest with Aurora 26-48. The game was lost in the first half when Aurora walked all around the local tossers who seemed glued to the floor. During this session Aurora ran up 33 points to Dixon's 7. In the second half, however, the Dixon team came out of their lethargy, woke up to the fact that they were engaged in a basketball game, and started traveling. And once they got going they made an interesting contest of it for the Aurora boys. Dixon scored 19 points in the second half to Aurora's 15.

The final game of the tournament was of course the most interesting, although it was evident from the first that Freeport would win, as they were an older, heavier and more experienced team and had played one game while Aurora, a lighter team, had come through two gruelling contests and were rather tired for the final contest. Freeport in the finals showed flashes of brilliant team work but Evanston copped the berries in this phase of the game, having the prettiest working machine the writer has seen in some time, but lacked the final punch as they could not hit the basket no matter how close they were to it. Details of the Dixon-Aurora game:

Dixon—Mossholder, N. rf; Palmer, lf; Hintz, c; Mossholder, R. rg; Lord-Wadsworth, lf.

Aurora—Carlson-Thorne, rf; Patelski, lf; Drandorf, c; Schackley-Weaver, rg; Kaiser, lg.

Field Goals: Patelski, 9; Hintz, 6; Drandorf, 4; Palmer, 3; Mossholder, N. 2; Thorne and Schackley.

Free Throws: Palmer, 3; Hintz, Schackley, 2.

Umpire: Friedlund.

Timer: Meyers.

Scorer: Lirot.

Visitors Had Terrible

The natural expectation of a Tiger-Panther mix-up would be a fur-flying contest with plenty of thrills and heart-throbs, but such was not the case Friday evening when the Dixon Tigers and Amboy Panthers met on the Dixon floor in a game of basketball. Rather than a game it was a slaughter and no team has received such a beating in a long time as was administered to the Panthers by the Tigers who ran up a score of 84 to 5 on them. During the first few minutes the Amboy team had the ball in their possession most of the time and they pulled off some pretty team work but when the Tigers got going they broke this up in a short time and the scoring machine began to work in good shape.

Dixon Tigers—Ramsey, rf; Stephens, lf; Wendel, c; Stultz, rg; Hoggard, lf.

Amboy Panthers—McCready, rf; Kuhn, lf; Brewer, c; Gibson, rg; Venetta, lg.

Field Goals: Stephens, 20; Wendel, 16; Ramsey, 6; Brewer, 2; Hoggard, 2.

Friday's game in the grade school basketball tournament went to St. Mary's 2-0 via forfeit as the North Central, through a case of cold feet or something like that, didn't show up. Pretty soft for the St. Mary gang.

Saturday the South Central 8th graders took an easy game from the E. C. Smith team 31-4. The Smith team put up a good scrap but got whipped striking distance of the goal but very few times. Thorne and Keyes did the stellar work for the 8th graders while Hoggard, Larkin and Shaulis did the same for the E. C. Smith bunch.

Washington Conference Sartorially Successful

Dorothy Terriss

Graceful Waltz of Other Days Revived, Too

Sartorially speaking, the international conference on limitation of armament is a riot, a knock-out, literally the last word in style-setting.

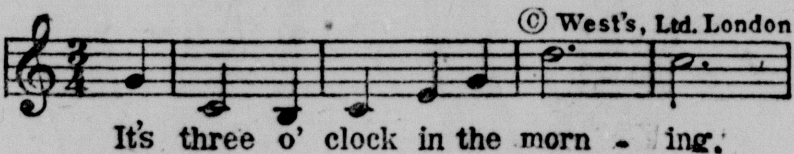

Incidentally, it's going to be a trifle difficult for certain Congressmen from the rural Middle West to explain to their constituents a sudden passion for walking sticks, top hats and frock coats, apparel once regarded in some sections as affected, if not positively foolish.

As for monacles and spats, Pennsylvania Avenue seems suddenly to be overrun with them. Not that either bit of adornment is so unusual in the Capitol City. What does seem unusual, though, is the combination of American eyes and monacles and American ankles (male) and spats.

It is a clear case of international imitation. The guest diplomats are groomed within an inch of their lives, from sleekly parted hair to Naturally, there is a social side to the gathering, but to the dismay of hostesses the education of the visiting diplomats appeared to have been neglected as far as the toddle, the fox-trot and other popular American dances went. It seemed, indeed, that, continentally speaking, the waltz had never gone out of date. But just here Mayer Davis, owner of the orchestras playing for smart Washington functions, unexpectedly solved the problem by receiving a cable tip from London.

Said the cable: "Three O'clock in the Morning London Craze". At that time Davis didn't know whether "Three O'clock in the Morning" was a breakfast food or a race horse. Curiosity prompted an immediate investigation and he discovered "Three O'clock in the Morning" was the new chimes waltz to which all London was pirouetting. So the music came to America, infusing fresh life into social functions and renewing for foreign visitors its rhythmic dance strain:

It's three o' clock in the morn - ing.

polished boot. They wear frock coats and top hats and carry walking sticks and they've lured American hosts into such garb, purely by the power of example.

Waltz Revived

A revival of the old-fashioned waltz is another conference innovation that seems to have nothing to do with naval holidays or air disarmament.

The Shrimp Chasers continue to hold down the top rung of the ladder in the Junior B tournament although the Galloping Nemos are close on their heels and are trying hard to dislodge them from the coveted position. The Dizzy Eagles were the victors of the Shrimp Chasers Saturday but the battle was close and hard fought so it was no cinch that the Chasers had in retaining the top of the heap. Larkin made the basket of the game which ended 2-0. The Alibis received a cheer in their upward climb, by the Galloping Nemos who are also busily engaged in heaving their way to the honored place at the head of the class. The Nemos with their galloping warhorse stride refused to be stopped by anything and so the Alibis were brushed aside by a 3-1 score. Kinney made a basket, E.

American Girl Writes Lyrics

Best of all, Americans found that this conference contribution was a cooperative event in which they shared; for, while Julian Robledo, an Englishman, did the music, Dorothy Terriss, an American girl, known as the "Lullaby Lady," because of the large number of sleepy time songs she has written, wrote the lyrics.

O'Malley and Kennedy each a free throw. The Blockheads who have been losing quite consistently lately were favored by a reversal of luck and surprised themselves by winning over the Fish Peddlers 2-0. Rink was the only one able to slip the ball through the hoop.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF LEE CO. Y OUTLINED IN DIRECTORS' REPORT

Association Has Had Very Successful Year Directors Report.

The following report of Board of Directors of the Lee County Young Men's Christian Association has been issued by Secretary Conrad:

A few of the outstanding activities accomplished during the past quarter of the fiscal year after making survey of the county regarding work already going on and as to the possibility in organizing new centers of activities. It was necessary to do much driving to the various communities in the county to develop personal contact with men, hold special interviews and counseling with superintendents of schools and ministers relative to the out look of the Boys' Work of Lee county. The secretary is happy to state that all the people who have been approached and counseled with on the association work in Lee county have expressed a fine Christian spirit and a keen interest and have shown a mutual desire of co-operation in promoting the program. Men who have been bearing the financial burden of this work for the past three years and more, are glad to see as a matter of dividend on their investments, the development of a Christian character in the lives of our boys as they come in contact with the association activities.

Mr. Reader, it may be your boy is being benefitted by this Christian influence and wholesome atmosphere the association radiates from its around fourfold program, and if so, are you abundantly, or are you expecting the other fellow to pay for the program surrounding your boy which makes for a strong character and good citizenship?

The association is no more or less than the Protestant churches in action; seeking to relate boys and young men, as well as girls to their true sense as in relation to the furtherance of the kingdom of God more truly and adequately through the churches. Church people should acquaint themselves of these fundamental principles of the associations relation with the Evangelical churches. It means much to all Christian people to have the right attitude toward the young men's Christian association which is playing such a large part in building up Christ's Kingdom in lives of Christian character with our young people. Any church will greatly strengthen its usefulness in co-operation with the associations since the association is bone and blood of the Evangelical churches, sprung from them, spiritually furnish by them, in the main supported financially by their members with control vested in the same. Intellectually the association is a cross section of all these churches. Both their orthodoxy and their liberalism are faithfully reflected in this composite society. It is neither just for one wing of the Christian body to penalize the association for containing representatives of the other wing and serving them along with others: Nor for one part in the association to claim the organization as an adjunct solely of that section of the church to which it is nearest theologically.

Objective: Let any group of representatives of these churches by themselves list their religious objectives among men and boys; and a company of association men independently list theirs. The result will be identical categories. What is more obvious than that people with common purposes in respect to the same individuals in a community could and should be acting practically together.

The board of directors are glad to report there having been held during the past three months: 90 Boys' group meetings of the seven groups of boys in the county, with an aggregate attendance of 1,000, with an around program. Four Father and Son banquets held with an attendance of 504 of the hottest games of the tournament 15-22. It was a noble scrap and undecided till the whistle announced the end of the game. Johnson and Hofman did the heavy work for the Kats, Johnson making 3 field goals and 1 free throw, and Hofmann three baskets and 2 free throws. Sadler and Glessner for the Brick Busters were the score makers Sadler getting 3 field goals and Glessner 2 with 2 free throws.

In the second game the Ivory Domes won their first and only game of the tournament by defeating the Doodle Bugs 13-2. This leaves these two teams tied for the cellar position each having won one game. The tie will probably be played off next Saturday morning.

Ever see it before? Whether you did or not, take a good look now—for this is the last time it's to be printed—maybe!

At least Mrs. Fine's husband hopes so.

Why? Well, just because.

When Mrs. Fine was little she was pretty. As she grew she became beautiful. Photographers delighted in snapping her, and her face soon became familiar in many ads.

Then she was married.

Friend husband found her staring him in the face from calendars, soap wrappers, street car ads and billboards.

Now he's peeved. "Never want to see it again," he declares.

"Tell the world I never got a dime out of it. I support my own wife."

So glance at the "ad girl" before she ceases to appear.

The WRONG FACE

ISABEL OSTRANDER

CHAPTER 1

"Why, Frank! You're back again and safe!" The young woman in mourning held out her hand to the chauffeur. "My aunt wrote you were a prisoner in Germany."

"It's fine to see you, Miss Fay," returned the chauffeur. "They turned us loose after the armistice." He hesitated. "I—I'd like to say, Miss Fay, that we all feel something terrible—the servants, I mean—when the news came about poor Mr. Tudor."

He shut the door and, climbing in behind the wheel, drove down the village street. Fay's soft blue eyes had blurred at the reference to her brother, but she winked back the tears determinedly.

Sandy Cove was one of the most exclusive of summer colonies, and Fay looked at the superb estates which had once been so familiar with a sense of bewilderment. Everything seemed just the same, just as she had remembered it, and yet there appeared to be a subtle, intangible difference. Could it be merely her nerves again, those wretched over-taxed nerves which had driven her from her reconstruction work in France?

She leaned forward impulsively. "My aunt and cousin; they are both well, Frank?"

"Yes, Miss Fay."

Fay sat back once more. Dear Aunt Clara. Her uncle's widow was as close to her as her own blood, and Laurel, her cousin, had been like a little dark-eyed vivacious sister.

The car swirled up the driveway, and halted before the steps of the wide porch, upon which a slender white-clad figure stood.

Fay had only time to note that the pliant face seemed as childishly naive as ever, before her cousin folded her in a tense embrace.

"Oh, Fay! Fay! I thought that transport never would get in."

"Laurel, dear!" Fay kissed her warmly, and mounted the steps to meet the gracious figure advancing toward her.

Mrs. Tudor was thirty-seven and looked twenty-five, with the delicate tender irregularity of feature which just escapes actual beauty. Everything about her was pretty; her blond hair and soft blue eyes and the rose-leaf skin, which was innocent of the slightest line. Her still girlishly slender figure moved with a slow rhythmic grace.

Later during the meal, Fay studied her aunt and cousin covertly.

It seemed there was a strained note in Laurel's vivacity which betrayed a nervous tension.

She was puzzled over it when the girl remarked:

"You haven't asked about any of the old crowd, Fay. Now that the men are back it is like the old Sandy Cove again."

"Mr. Clayton and others are staying at the Country Club."

"Mr. Clayton?" Fay glanced up quickly.

"Yes. One of the dollar-a-year men in Washington."

"He has been magnificently generous!" Fay's eyes glowed. "I shall be glad to see him again!"

Mrs. Tudor glanced across the table at her niece and smiled.

"He's quite the same as ever," she said. "Plays abominable bridge and talks shop."

"Oh, mother only abuses him because he is as insane about her as ever!" Laurel laughed, but there was a nervous little quiver in her voice as she hurried on. "Jack Huntington is at the club—and Harry Cadmus."

She drew a quick breath as she mentioned the last name, and her eyes seemed to burn into her cousin's, but Fay merely responded quietly:

"Is he?"

Harry Cadmus! Fay actually had forgotten his very existence for more than a year. How heartbroken she had fancied herself when the big test came and he had frantically pulled wires to obtain an assignment at home rather than face the hazards of active service! With what hot scorn had she parted from him! And now it was with difficulty that she could conjure up a fleeting impression of him.

Mrs. Tudor rose. "Fay, I did not mean to touch upon your brother's death so soon after your return, but I think you may be glad to know that Wilbur's friend brought all his things to us, and they are in his old room now. The key is on your dresser."

"It was Captain Warren who brought them?" Fay asked. "Did you like him?"

"We did not even meet him. We were up in the Berkshires when he came. By the way, I fancy we shall have a crowd from the club for tea."

"Please, Aunt Clara," Fay protested, "you will let me escape, won't you?"

"But they will be so disappointed!" Laurel exclaimed. "Seeing them in such an informal way will be easier than if they all paid stiff calls of condolence. If you put your meeting them there will be talk."

"Why?" Fay demanded.

"Well, they think it queer of you! Nervous breakdown is such an elastic term."

"Laurel means, dear, that they will think you are really ill, when all you need is a good rest," Mrs. Tudor interrupted smoothly.

Fay passed her hand over her eyes. "I am a little tired. I think I shall rest for a while if I am to meet these people later."

Fay's tired nerves relaxed in the dim quietude of the room which she was to share with Laurel.

As she picked up her hand mirror for a glance at her hair a key on the dressing table caught her eye and she put the mirror aside. The key to Wilbur's room!

Taking up the key she made her way to the one closed door down the hall and, unlocking it, paused upon the threshold.

Her eyes strayed to the mantel, and with a little exclamation of surprise, she drew nearer to it.

A hand grenade, a "tin hat," and a gas mask! Then all at once she recalled what her aunt had said—that Captain Warren had brought Wilbur's things home. She touched the helmet with tender reverence, and took up the gas mask, but the dark stains upon its case made her recoil, and the full horror and desolation of her loss swept over her.

She returned to her own room to remove the traces of her emotion in the determination to take up her life again among those carelessly happy people below as soon as she could.

As she came down the stairs a few minutes later a man standing in the hallway came quickly forward.

"Oh, there you are, Clara! I heard voices out on the lawn and was just about to—"

He passed as the girl advanced and held out her hand.

"How do you do, Mr. Clayton?" Am I so very like my aunt? I am disappointed."

"Miss Tudor!" The newcomer recovered from his surprise and shook hands cordially. "When did you return?"

"Just this morning. Do you know I feel like a dancer who suddenly finds herself out of step?" Fay smiled. "Silly, isn't it?"

"No, I don't think it's silly," he responded. "You've been living under such high pressure that this seems unreal, as though you were looking on at some pleasant-mannered comedy on the stage."

"Yes, that is it!" Fay exclaimed. "I want to talk to you," Clayton urged suddenly. "Do you know, I haven't yet got over the shock you gave me just now? I can never quite realize that you are actually grown up, even when I read about the citation from General Petain."

"We heard about you, too, over there," Fay asserted herself. "Our unit was at the very last of its resources when your train-load of food came!"

"I am glad it was of service," Clayton paused.

"Well, upon my word!" Mrs. Tudor's voice sounded from the doorway. "When did you arrive, Ken? I'm glad you found Fay, but you've kept the whole crowd waiting for ages out on the lawn."

"I'm sorry," Clayton rose.

The next hour was less of a trial to Fay than she had feared, for after the first flurry of greetings, the conversation returned to the current gossip and the girl was content to sit back and look on.

That evening after her aunt and cousin had departed with Mr. Clayton to a country club dance, Fay strolled into the library. She extinguished the lights, seated herself by the open window and looked out over the sloping lawn to shadows which marked the clump of trees surrounding the tea-house.

So it had been Captain Warren who brought Wilbur's things home. He had come to see her in Paris on his first furlough after her brother was killed, and she recalled as a tall, self-contained man, with kindly gray eyes. She wished that she had been at home here to receive him.

With a start her thoughts came abruptly back to the present and she leaned forward. Had something moved there beneath that clump of trees? It must be simply her nerves, which peopled the shadows. With a shrug she sank back among the cushions, and her mind reverted to the captain once more.

Suddenly she was aware of a rustling in the shrubbery directly beside the window and without warning a face appeared within a few inches of her own!

It was a white, drawn face with disheveled hair and eyes which stared wildly into hers for a moment, while she held her breath in surprise and terror.

The next instant it had disappeared, and there remained only the night breeze rustling through the shrubbery.

CHATS WITH YOUR GAS MAN.

The luxuries of yesterday have become the necessities of today. We have only to think of gas, telephones, electric lights and street cars to appreciate this and to wonder how people ever lived without them.

Thanks to our public utilities, the most efficient form of co-operative business, these services have become commonplace things of daily life. Gas service, for instance, is at our command so easily that we accept and use it as a matter of course, without a thought of how it got here. Let it not be simply "happened," or, like Topey, "just grewed."

The story of its origin, growth and place in the life of the nation is romance made reality. It shows the result of labor, investment and direct genius, all united to render a service so indispensable as to deserve the good-will of every community fortunate enough to obtain it.

Harding Favors Navy Personnel of 80,000

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Feb. 25.—President Harding is understood to have told republican members of the house naval committee at a White House conference today that while he felt some reduction should be made in the navy personnel the total number of enlisted men ought not to be cut under 80,000.

The President also is said to have strongly urged legislation for conversion of two battle cruisers into airplane carriers. While the question as to whether the 540 members of the first class at Annapolis, to be graduated in June, should be commissioned, was not considered in detail. It was stated that the President advocated a sharp reduction in the number of

I drew my last hundred dollars from the bank to help pay the doctors who examined him for the sanity hearing. There's no more money for lawyers, no chance to go to the higher courts, it's all gone and we guess this is the end."

Committee Favors Reporting Soldier Bonus Minus Means

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Feb. 26.—Failure of the special substitute committee of republican members of the house ways and means committee to approve any provision for financing the soldiers' bonus, after rejecting the sales tax proposal, had placed the question again in the hands of the entire majority of the committee for further study of the situation. In addition to the vote against the sales tax, the sub-committee was understood to have gone on record yesterday in favor of the reporting out a bonus bill without any provision for raising the revenue.

Shoeman Shot, Left in Burning Building

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Cedar Rapids, Ia., Feb. 25.—Police have spread a drag net for those who last night shot and seriously wounded P. Romanowski, and then are believed to have set fire to his shoe shop. Romanowski was found early today by firemen who were called to the shop when passersby saw flames shooting from the rear windows. He was shot twice, one bullet striking him in the mouth and the other near the left eye. His condition at a hospital was said to be critical. Romanowski is a Russian and police are working on the theory that he was the victim of some enemy clique. The fire loss was small.
